

SUGGESTS THAT GOVERNMENT TAKE OVER PROVINCE'S AGRICULTURAL LIABILITIES

To the Editor of The Northern Tribune.

Dear Sir: Believing that Governments, both Federal and Provincial, as well as economists of all nations, are at a loss to find a solution for present-day problems, and believing that any suggestion of assistance in solving these problems would be welcomed, would like to submit the following plan:

It is in brief to consolidate all the liabilities of the Agricultural Industry of Alberta under the Government of the Province of Alberta. The Province would be responsible for all debts, and the Provincial Lands and Mines Department to handle the scheme. Every farmer who is in debt would give the Province a first mortgage for the amount of his indebtedness. The Province would then pay, with bonds issued by the Province, the amount of the debt, and all interest thereon. The mortgage would be repaid to the Government by a crop share each year, and to bear interest at no more than 5 per cent, and equitable crop share to be decided on by the Government, according to the value of sufficiently long dating so that the crop share will retire the mortgage.

To illustrate: Bill Smith is a farmer with a half section and the necessary equipment worth in all $8,000; and he owes $4,000, made up of mortgage, taxes, bills to different tradesmen and merchants, balances on machinery and stock, etc. His crop is worth $10,000, and he has a debt of 5 per cent, to be repaid by him by share of his crop each year for a sufficient number of years to retire the amount, with the option of paying the whole amount anytime.

If, however, Bill Smith is insolvent, his liabilities being greater than his assets, it will be necessary for his creditors to each discount his claim sufficiently, so that the aggregate amount will make a safe first mortgage. When the mortgage is signed by Bill Smith the Government issues to each of his creditors bonds for the amount of each individual's claim against him.

When the farmers of Alberta are thus covered, the Government withdraws all legislation now in force which impairs the security of the first mortgage. It provides for the collection of every grain in the Province and every grain buyer. The threshers will be provided with forms on which he reports to the Government the amount of grain he threshed for the Province, and the amount of grain he threshed for the Government, and the amount of the Government shares, as grain is delivered. At the end of the crop year the Government announces that they have on hand so much money to apply on the payment of the bonds and each holder of a bond gets his pro rata share of the fund.

Some of the advantages of this plan will suggest themselves at a glance. First, it will not cost the Province anything but the cost of printing the bonds. The cost of printing the mortgage can be computed in each case. The credit of the Province will not impair because the Government is the sole creditor. Security behind the bonds, or the gold standard behind them, is the aggregate of all first mortgages. There is no cumbersome or expensive collection system, and the grain trade handles that part as they paid out the wheat bonus on the payment of the bonds and each holder of a bond gets his pro rata share of the fund.

All business within the Province will be stimulated, as the country merchant could pay his debts with bonds, and again be in a position to arrange credits on a sound basis. No expensive collection efforts or litigation would be necessary on the part of the creditors and debtors would be relieved of the constant annoyance of dunning and high-power collection methods, and the expense of legal proceedings.

Business men will then know where their outstanding debts are coming from, how much of them they are going to get, and when they are going to get them. Farmers will know exactly how much they owe, how they are going to pay it, and when. The grain buyers will know exactly what grain is wanted, and when it will be in demand in both town and country for permanent improvement long overdue. It would assist every citizen in the Province, whether farmer, mine, business man, trader, or professional man.

Banks claim there is no shortage of money for safe investments if they can be secured. These operating in Alberta could take sufficient bonds to pay all taxes secured under the mortgage and all arrears of taxes would be available for municipal purposes. The Province could then issue bonds to help them to operate and keep up their services with a small levy for a number of years.

Agriculture being the basic industry of the three Prairie Provinces, this plan will work equally well and be effective in all three. I have already discussed this plan with Mr. Frank McMillan, member of Parliament for Grande Prairie, and to date there has been very little weight of argument against it. I explained the plan to Mr. Allen, our member, and asked him to take it up with the Government. He liked the thoughtful consideration of it by everyone who reads this, and if considered favorably, to press for it being put into operation at this sitting of the House.

Big Boxing Card To Be Held Here On June 3rd

Frank Donfret informed The Tribune that he intends turning his skating rink into a boxing and dancing pavilion, and that the former skating rink will be converted into a skating rink.

The boxing will be held on the King's Birthday, June 3.

Athabasca K. I. (local) Ltd., a popular Athabasca, has agreed to contribute $1,000 to the fund to meet any man near his weight for ten rounds here on the afternoon of June 3.

An opponent for the colored scrap will likely be picked from the Western Canada Construction Company who had ordered "padding" of time sheets for the month of June.

FIGHT TO RETAIN LAND OFFICE LOST

Notwithstanding that every effort was put forth, including the sending of a delegation to Edmonton to interview the Minister of Lands and Forests, the Department of Lands and Mines refusing to change its decision. This means that the government will take the place of the land office which for so many years gave such splendid service to this part of the Peace River Country.

It is not the intention of The Tribune to rehash the arguments presented by the members of the land office at Grande Prairie; suffice it to say that the Grande Prairie district is one of the most interesting which rightly belongs to it and the government is cutting down expense of the land department by adding offices onto the backs of the homesteaders—the ones least able to bear it.

However, there is no space squawking about the injustices. The gods in power have spoken and the district must accept the decision.

Grande Prairie itself depends on something more than the retention of the land office. It depends on being served by the Grande Prairie Board of Trade and U. F. A. organizations which are the backbone of the business leaders in the district and those yet to come, for there are many homesteads yet to be taken.

So far as the government is concerned, it is a case of "Carry on, sir." The people of the Peace River country are not too desirous what governments have done or will continue to do so.

IS ANOTHER WORLD WAR INEVITABLE?

"Is another Great War inevitable?" is what many people are asking to-day.

If the size of armies and the nervous preparation being made are any indication, it would seem that the world is ready for a crusade by a voice of thunder.

At a matter of fact Europe is now more or less prepared for war before 1914. Here are a few figures which some time ago appeared in an English paper:

In the active army, trained reserves and air force, Russia has over eighteen million men; France has over 12 million; Germany 10 million; Italy over six millions; Japan considerably over two millions.

The British Isles and the United States are at the foot of the list. The former has only slightly over a million and a half.

A British writer who returned recently from an extended trip through Europe writes that "the signs of war are evident, but we need not be told that great preparation is being made for a war of revenge and that war is ready to erupt."

The situation, taken as a whole, is one of the most thoughtful and woman to pause and shudder at the possibility of a war that will be on a bigger scale than even the Great War.

In the Far East the situation is very grave, and the world is awaiting the arrival of the great powers in war.

Hither, the new German chancellor, now clothed with dictatorial powers, is looking upon as a menace to peace. Reported to be a firebrand and drunk with power, he is determined to make any moment to precipitate another titanic struggle.

Of Europe and Asia at another's throat, it means dissolution of present systems of government, and the same of Canada, Macdonald and those associated with him know this and hence their untiring effort to prevent the impending war.

Shakespeare wrote: "The sense of death makes us to dare." The sense of death makes us to dare and to fight and their very presence suggests war.

However, it is hoped that sane counsels will prevail and the world be spared the blood and misery of the war years, 1914-1918, or even worse.

ADVANCE IN SUGAR

There is considerable misunderstanding on the part of the public as to the amount to be advanced in the price of sugar, and the merchants are kept busy explaining.

A check-up. The Tribune records that the fact that there was an advance made by the refineries and wholesalers, which plus the tax brings the total up to $2.20 increase per hundred pounds.

Mr. Howson: I said I never used any such words. It was the Minister of Public Works who used those words.

Mr. Brownlee: May I refer to another statement in bringing his charges of dishonesty against the administration as a lie?

Mr. Howson: Did you hear me use those words?

Mr. Brownlee: Surely my friend does not object to saying whether he used those words or not.

Mr. Howson: If he heard me use those words, I am asking him to withdraw his interpretation of my address.

Mr. Howson: It is a fair interpretation of his address.

Mr. Howson: Do you propose to withdraw this? That is all this is for.

Mr. Brownlee: Then there is no doubt about this from what he has said. He has admitted that the words "graft" and therefore I am prepared to say now the word was not used and that he did not use the word "graft," and that he did not use the word "dishonest."

Mr. Howson: I will say I did not use either word.

Mr. Brownlee: And it was the intention of the Dept. of Adjustment to withdraw the graft or grafts.

Mr. Howson: I stated the conduct of the highway contracts was a scandal.

Mr. Brownlee: Will he state what he meant by scandal, whether from the point of view of the taxpayers?

Mr. Howson: It is a matter to come to the attention of the financial interests who have always and still are opposing the legislation that some measure is needed to protect the public as it is protection from "unscrupulous creditors."

Mr. Brownlee: This investigation is not for the purpose of meeting certain charges but solely for the purpose of trying to see what might be brought out.

Mr. Howson: No, it is to ascertain the exact words, the meaning of the exact words I used.

Mr. Brownlee: This inquiry for the purpose of trying to find out what you meant by your address?

(Laughter.)

Mr. Howson: I presume it is. We did ask for it. • • •

At any rate the investigation has slowed down to what is generally known as a "fishing expedition," with the Liberal leader trying to pin down the unfortunate civil servant or contractor.

Timely Hints From the Beaverlodge Sub-Station

By W. D. Albright
"IT IS A PLEASURE AS WELL AS A DUTY TO SERVE"

How about growing a few vegetables? I can't do much for them?

The wood pile neatly cutted up or is it sprawled out like the foot of a volcano? Is it piled at all?

All the energy wanted in bootstrap lifting taxes would be much lighter, and you should be financially much better off.

If every able bodied man in Canada were put to work tomorrow at some useful task, even though the wages were very low, the day, depression would lift, demand pick up, and business gradually pick up.

The chastened spirit of the recent times seems to be reflected in a larger percentage of earnest managers over the radio. They are less boastful and wantonless. Perhaps before the depression is over, may be spared the dialogues.

It is a time to study true economy, out of which will come a new era, timely ready for the spring work implements repaired, horses mended and oiled, wood split and piled, seed grain ready for sowing, and so on.

All these items are reminders to the wise, but timbalization to the foolish. How do they strike you?

Guitars carry away tons of top soil, leaving a rock-strewn bed. Divide them to their knuckles or ridges, and when you have them filled, a substantial reservoir. Some how work will be needed, however, to keep it from cutting a new gutter back to the "old" one.

Over six dozen houses was recently realized on the largest four of 18 September plus shipped on March 11 and disposed of on the Edmonton market for $4,500 each, for a total of $27,000 to the one batcher. After a winter's market performance on the bottom houses of the half in the price section, the dollars a pig seemed like a spring song.

At Beaverlodge the Liberty Bullseye yields about seven-eighths as much meat as Banner. Laurel out-yields Liberty but has a shorter straw. Hulles are susceptible to frost but may be grown perfectly free of them. The best fertilizer to get a start is copper carbonate. It is the best fungicide for hulles out-yields.

Several inquiries about spring hay have been received. Though productive on poor land, it is a crop that is not favored where the spring grasses are sparse. Hay is usually unpalatable except as a limited ingredient of the mixture, the straw is tough and not digestible. For this reason, exhaustive volunteering is an objectionable feature and with all these disadvantages, it is likely to be a cultural mess which sometimes recommend winter hay.

Live-Stock Prices and Prospects
The alfalfa seed you sent for cooperative trial has proven to be of great value. Live stock crop. Will feed five acres this spring.

The 1932 grain crop was very good. A dry spell shortened the yield of oats and barley, but wheat, rye, canola and grades No. 1 Northern. Live-stock prices have discouraged many farmers to do more than to let their herds wait until as many head breed locally as compared with last year.

Now farmers shipped cattle to Edmonton in droves, selling for 100 dollars sold and half to three cents. Enid, Alta.

Ans.—With agreeing about the decreasing nature of the animal prices we doubt the wisdom of going out of stock at this date. Late in the fall, when the weather is bad, it is very likely to do so after a disastrous slump in prices. We do not know what to do, but we would like to rush into hogs at this or any other time, if on a good break, to get a good price. It is hard to keep her home for a little next spring than it was to breed for a 1932 litter.

This Stand of Bone
Last year being short of pasture I seeded a field to bromo and wheat. Now the bromo is dead and the wheat is thin. Could I seed any more without injuring the stand? How would it be to plant a small amount of bromo? Is it good enough to cut for hay what is the right time to cut? How many days should I wait? How long does it take to cure as compared with wild hay?

W.F.N.
Ans.—Nurse-crop seedlings usually work out well, especially in a droughty season. It is probable that you could get a good stand of bromo but the 1933 hay crop will likely be light and perhaps weedy.

The stand of bromo is too sparse for cutting on some more seed and scratching it with a harrow or even a hayrake, but germination would be slow. It would probably be best to wait until June, then if it still seems necessary cultivate the stand and then resow with bromo early July, taking advantage of a rain if possible.

Bromo hay is falling apparently in demand but the question is, only cutting per annum may be obtained. It is not very hard to "make" but needs to be especially well cured to be good. It will turn dark and must, being then unsuitable for horses.

BEZANSON NEWS

A meeting of the Nightingale Girl Club was held at the home of Marion Fenton on March 11, at 3 o'clock. This was the first meeting under the new government of Mrs. W. E. Fenton. There were five members present and it is hoped a much better attendance will be had at the next meeting. The next meeting will be held at the Community Hall, on April 1, at 2 o'clock. All mothers are asked to attend.

The Knights of Columbus planned their engagement at the hall as advertised in the issue of March 10.

"Scamander," ordered a canister in a city market restaurant, "milk tonic," murmured his companion with a smile.

"Well, I advance notices are that this play is a smash hit, and you will enjoy it. If you don't wish to miss any of the fine act, please be at the hall at 8 o'clock Saturday evening."

Quite a number from the East End attended the Minstrel Revue held in Grande Prairie March 10 and 11. All reported excellent entertainment.

Personally, we enjoyed the play, "The Fest." All four in the cast did their best to perfection, if not any judge.

The two customers had a conference and decided to "put over" on the girls. "What's the tall cost in Pittman?" "The first one wanted a glass of milk and the second a cup of black coffee.

Everyone is starting to move out these fine days, after hibernating through the winter.

We made the first trip to Grande Prairie in several months on Saturday and were greatly surprised to see the town looking so spruced up.

The physical condition of the town is improving as the average in the community. From reports we had made during the winter, we expected to see faces wan and drawn, but such is not the case. Everyone seems to be in better shape than could a lot more depression.

A meeting of the East Glen G. I. will be held at the home of Mr. W. L. Miller on April 1, at 8 o'clock, in the Community Hall. This will be the first meeting of the year and we hope for a good attendance and ask each member to try and bring a visitor.

VALHALLA NEWS

"Numerous experiments have shown that smutting smut can be prevented or reduced by a negligible amount by thoroughly cleaning seed to remove the smut shells and then properly treating the grain, preferably the former, as it does not reduce germination and has other advantages.

"If copper carbonate is used, 2 ounces of the 50-per-cent grain or 3 pounds of the 20-per-cent ground should be applied to each bushel of seed with a commercial or homemade machine so that the dust does not blow away. On no account should an attempt be made to apply copper carbonate by shoveling or raking.

"If formaldehyde is used, the seed should be soaked in a solution made of one part formaldehyde to forty to 40 gallons of water, using contained machines which float smut shells to the surface. Some machines do not remove smut shells. Some machines do not remove smut shells. All popular shades.

A good advice is to soak the seed in a tub of water for 24 hours and then wash it with a hose.

Albert thought it was more like a rugby game than a social affair. The next meeting will be at Mrs. J. Purvis, on Tuesday, April 4.

THE WEATHERMAN HAS A DIFFICULT TASK IN THE MOTHERLAND

Just over a week ago the English Isles suffered one of the worst snowstorms experienced in a century. Towns and villages were buried and roads were missing for hours. This trying situation eventually cleared up only to be followed by rain storms and floods. Now press despatches tell us that Londoners, at least, are enjoying the warmest, brightest weather since last August. The weatherman's forecast which promises to provide variety for his readers. AS JAPS ADVANCE ON JEHOL CAPITAL

Somewhat reminiscent of an old picture of Napoleon's retreat from Moscow is this picture from the scene of Japan's operations in the Jehol Province. But the Japs are not retreating. On the contrary, when this picture was made, the invaders were pushing on towards Jehol City, capital of the Province, which fell into their hands after a half-hearted resistance. Sub-zero temperatures slowed advance.

NEW BOW FOR VIOLIN

German Fiddler Finds Silver Wires Give Good Tone

For centuries past the violin bow has been made of horsehair. It is perhaps the thinnest hair, just as the horse is disappearing. A German fiddler has invented a bow strung with silver wires. The wires are about the same thickness as horsehair, and as they are slightly strengthened in the surface, they vibrate more perfectly without the use of rosin. The tone, it is claimed, is far better than that of a horsehair bow. It is not commercially available on this continent as yet.

"THE ADMIRABLE CRICHTON"

AT CAPITOL, MAR. 31, APRIL 1

This play is one of Barrrie's big successes. The production is destined to be the main attraction on ton in natural surroundings, irrespective of birth or education, sets people thinking and discussing the play and the problem in many humorous situations.

Once a month the Earl of Loam gives to his servants ten party girls, the best of his harem, and from the highest to the lowest they are received on terms of equality.

Twenty, the honest and natural little kindred, who has an eye for no one but Crichton, the Lady of the Lake, the maidens, the maid under his wing, several young fellows of his district.

Crichton, in natural costume, is a master of mimicry. He dances alone, waltzes on in turn by the females of the household, who have dropped their titles and become Polly, Angie and Kitch.

One of the master's many inventions is an electrical contrivance to set bonfires burning around the shore to attract sharks.

Suddenly, amidst the merriment, the boming of a gun heralds a rescue ship, and the party returns to Earth.

There are many moments of music when the tempestuous Lady Bracknell has time to sing some of the island experiences from them.

Everybody likes a good laugh. There are plenty of them in "The Admirable Crichton."

When the play on March 31 or April 1 is over for the haughty Fielding, the audience will have another cup of tea before the kitchen wench, Twenty and her infatuation for Crichton, can get the best of the try.

The play continues at the Bellary.

As well as humor, the play will give you some really dramatic scenes where Crichton first speaks of his love for Lady Mary or by the time he has finished, he will probably give it all up because he has to play the game.

If you are philosophically inclined you will be interested in Crichton's theory that whatever is natural is right.

Male Voice Choir Give Delightful Concert

The Male Voice Choir gave another of their delightful concerts in the Capitol Theatre on Sunday evening. Mr. Steele-Smith, director of the choir, in the absence of A. E. Gawaye, F. Lockyer directed the tour characterized the evolution of the choir's various numbers.

In her interpretation of "Liberation Line," Mrs. Homan-Miller simply captivated her audience who applauded and applauded for an encore. The soloist was Mrs. Homan-Miller, player Chopin's "Walz."

The Male Voice quartet sang most creditably. "The Lord is My Shepherd" was given with enthusiasm.

A. R. Headman delighted everyone with his first number, "Romance," and for his second "Noboddy Knows the Trouble I've Seen."

Program

"Dear Lord and Saviour of Mankind,"

"Down in Yon Summer Vale," Chole Violin solo, "Romance," Mr. Headman, "The Lord is My Shepherd," Male Voice Quartet.

"Out of the Dust," Choir, Speech, Mr. Steele-Smith, Piano and Solo Miller.

"Some Blessed Day," Choir, Hymn, "Jesus, I Love Thee, Peace," God Save Our King."

Mr. Steele Smith Talks on "Music"

A. E. Gawaye, director of the choir, Mr. Steele-Smith said he had been asked to talk on some subject and he chose "Music." He dealt with his topic in a rather matter-of-fact way.

Grande Prairie people, are not as musical as they think they are. They have been taught to build up on harmony, he observed that if anyone drives a hard bargain, a neighbor will be told to tell his neighbor about it, gloating over the fact, such a one is not musical for he has broken the law of the community.

Women who go to dances, bridge parties, etc., at the expense of their home and may go to a neighbor's house and sit in a room where they too neglect their music, were breaking the harmony and music of the community.

He said there were many instances passing by.

Continuing Mr. Steele-Smith said that the church, which has been planning to get together and pray for prosperity, "The Lord is my Shepherd, who art with us, our daily bread, has God not done this? Are the elevators not full? Is there no plenty on the road in such a prayer?" remarked the speaker when he went on to describe life in the church.

This performance will be at the Beaumont Community Hall on March 31. A large crowd is expected.

As the speaker saw it, the various religious divisions meant the breaking of the harmony of the community life.

"The trouble is, he said, that we have not done enough and seriously and honestly examine things. What God wants is for people to be in harmony with each other and to stay away from this condition," he remarked.

In conclusion the speaker said that the ancient Greeks believed that the world was built upon music. "On every hand there is harmony, and music, and love, but there is also money with God. That is my idea of conversion."

STORM CLASH BETWEEN HOWSON and MC PHERSON

on "The Economics of War" when this man can tell you what he means when he worked for Foreman and Company, put in all the force account work he did for them.

How Mr. McPherson: "Now that you have off that chest, will you answer my question?"

Foreman said: "Yes, Mr. McPherson: "You would do that for anybody, even Mr. Howson, no doubt."

Mr. Howson, originally angered, sprang to his feet: "I don't want you to say that. You are a scoundrel. You will do it only once," said Howson to the minister.

"Order," called Chairman Farquharson.
